

Dear Minnesota,
I'm Dianne Davis-Kenning, at the University of Minnesota Extension, and I'm excited to tell you about Super Shelf.

It's a movement that transforms food shelves into places where people can choose their own items with bright, colorful aisles stocked with healthy, culturally connected options, just like at a grocery store.

Everyone deserves to have dignified access to food and your university is partnering with the community to make it happen.

See more and share your story at system.umn.edu/dearmn